```
function outputRejectedMessage(err) {
                     if (err instanceof Error) {
                             console.error(err.stack);
9
                     } else if (typeof err === 'undefined') {
10
                             console.error('Promise rejected no value');
      10
                     } else {
12
                             console.error('Promise rejected with value:', err);
                             console.error('Promise rejected with value: ' + util.inspect(err));
      11
```